Belcourt's lake-framed arrival will showcase birds in flight, by sculptor Douwe Blumberg

Signature art to enrich Belcourt public spaces.

Lively, inspiring public art will highlight Belcourt's walkable neighborhood plan. The works respond to the wishes of Bakersfield residents who participated in preference research for this new Seven Oaks village, and reflect Woodbridge Pacific Group's commitment to a delightful pedestrian experience.

Belcourt's entry will feature a lake with a stunningly beautiful art piece depicting a large flight of birds rising from the lake's surface. The birds, currently being created by award-winning sculptor Douwe Blumberg, will be highly stylized and create a powerful sense of movement. Carla Neuss, WPG consultant for the public arts program, reports that plans are shaping up nicely for additional pieces, thanks in part to her collaboration with the Arts Council of Kern.

First 25 castings arrive at artist's studio from foundry for final assembly and finishing.

Belcourt realized. Irresistibly different.

Meandering shaded pathways for strolling and biking. Beautiful parks and places to gather and play. And concerts under the stars at your own community amphitheater. A completely new, lush and connected Seven Oaks is underway.
